

Enhancing Learning Power

A one-day in-house workshop to introduce ELLI and the Learning Power Dimensions

Why ELLI?

Learning matters to everyone. Being an effective learner offers great advantages in a world of constant change. ELLI offers new insights into measuring and improving your Learning Power, as an individual, a group or an organisation. This workshop provides an opportunity to:

Explore the research behind this new learning theory, develop an appreciation of its seven dimensions and identify your own Learning Power profile using an on-line diagnostic instrument

Build a deep understanding of each dimension, exploring how to use it in your own learning and in facilitating learning in others

Experience a variety of practical learning activities that demonstrate the ELLI dimensions in action

Consider how to use ELLI in individual and group learning, with a focus on developing powerful coaching and mentoring conversations

Explore potential applications of Learning Power in your learning design and delivery, in order to improve the effectiveness and business results of individuals, teams and organisations you work with.

Tell me about the workshop...

The in-house, client specific workshop is a full-day introduction (0900 -1700) for a group of between 8-20 learners. The programme fee includes an individual ELLI profile for each learner, ELLI support materials to enable clients to begin to use ELLI within their own organisations, and a copy of each of the practical activities included in the day.

The £1995 +VAT fee does not include venue or catering costs. Venue and catering will be arranged by the client organisation.

Who should come to the workshop?

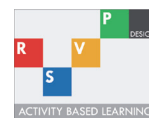

Understanding and being able to use the 7 dimensions of Learning Power is of value to anyone involved in supporting organisational learning. This includes L+D specialists, internal coaches and mentors, project leaders, instructors and skills trainers, career advisors and line managers with responsibility for employee development.

What additional benefits can I expect?

As well as building understanding of ELLI and Learning Power, participants in this workshop will learn how to structure coaching conversations and will practise their coaching skills under the expert guidance of a skilled ELLI facilitator. For organisational teams, there are also opportunities to strengthen team relationships and understand more about personal and team learning strategies.

How do I arrange a workshop?

We are happy to deliver this workshop on behalf of ViTaL Partnerships. Please ask for a conversation to help you decide if this workshop is suitable for your needs.
